REPORT

The Department of Zoology had signed the Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Archana Analytical Services, Kolhapur from the academic year 2015-16 for the tenure of five years to provide the platform for water, soil and air analysis, providing consultancy regarding green audit of the college campus and to exchange the knowledge of analytical methodology.

In order to aware the students regarding the importance of physico-chemical parameters and hydrobiological studies, the Department had organized one-day workshop on 'Research Methodology in water analysis and its importance in Research' on 7th February, 2018. The Resource person for the workshop was Dr. Vikas Jadhav (Director, Archana Analytical Services, Kolhapur). Dr. Indira Patil, Head introduced and felicitated the guest. Dr. Jadhav delivered a lecture on Hydrobiology and there-after started the hand- on training on how to analyse different physico-chemical parameters in laboratory. During workshop some stock solutions and indicators required for titration were prepared by students. Dr. Vikas Jadhav aware the students regarding importance of physical and chemical parameters of water including Temperature, pH, Electrical conductivity, Alkalinity, water Hardness, Nutrient contents of water, its variations during different seasons and impact of these physico-chemical parameters on aquatic life.

Head of the Department, Dr. Indira Patil inform the students regarding the use and applications of these water analysis techniques to students. Coordinator of the workshop, Mr. D.S.Kumbhar proposed vote of thanks and Ms. Rekha Shinde anchored the programme.
